To whom it may concern:

I am writing in reference to Mike Swisher and the work that he has done for CompassData on projects that I was spearheading. Mike was recommended to me by internal sources for a software development project and was extremely helpful in completing the required tasks efficiently and effectively. The project itself required front end development of a dynamic website coupled with back end development using data from a geodatabase. The web page looked professional and could display the correct seven images from a cache of hundreds of thousands of images depending on the significant data retrieved from the geodatabase.

This development paired with Mikes knowledge of geospatial data types and their implementation turned out to be a very good fit for us. He was also available for some further modifications once the project was completed.

I am available to speak more to Mikes work on my cell phone: 303-506-7845
